Last month the Chapter made a major change to its regular monthly meeting format by simply moving up its event start time to 6pm. This simple change provided ample occasion for our attendees to do things like; make new acquaintances, engage in discussions, and generally partake in a moment of good ol' camaraderie. We named this reception time "Table Talks". This first offering, Mr. David Fadeley (ESEP) was kind enough to serve as host where our attendee responses reported Table Talks a smashing success. As such, we would like to continue to hold reception sessions at all of our future monthly meetings. In doing so, we are looking to membership to step-up to volunteer as rotating hosts for these events. Anyone is welcome to host, but those who are long-time members should really consider this opportunity. No experience is needed beyond the ability to greet people. Its a great way to participate in your chapter and also get to know the membership, as well as have the membership get to know you!

Table Talks Hosts Needed

Volunteers needed to host pre-meeting Breakout Rooms

Great opportunity to share in experiences and inspire our fellow Systems Engineers.

So please step-up, help your chapter to be inviting, and sign-up to host at a Table Talk session. Reach out to Programs@INCOSE-CC.org for more info.

Upcoming Events to Consider

Online Interactive Workshop

Negotiation, Persuasion and Conflict for Systems Engineers

Mr. Zane Scott

Course Hours: 9 am – 2 pm
Location: Virtual Online

Negotiation, Persuasion and Conflict for Systems Engineers

Zane Scott, ASEP, VP for Professional Services at Vitech Corporation, will facilitate this Interactive Workshop in order to provide you practical knowledge and skills that can make you a better, more persuasive, negotiator and equip you to better manage conflict from the position of a participant or mediator/facilitator whether at work or in your private life. It will cover the foundation and use of communication, influence, interest-based problem solving in personal and professional settings.

The Latest from Our Blog

My Life with the XK-E - Part 1 & 2

George Anderson, ESEP, takes a reminiscent look at owning and supporting a 1968 Jaguar XK-E fixed head coupe (FHD). A lesson in participating in the inner workings of a Systems Life-Cycle, particularly the Utilization, Support and Retirement Stages. Part 1 George details his initial impressions in putting this car through the Verification and Operations processes. Part 2 George details his efforts in putting this car through the Maintenance, Logistics, and Disposal processes.

Did you miss out last month?

Interface Management – the Neglected Orphan of Systems Engineering

Every interface is an opportunity to lose information, time, control and / or money through contention between stakeholders at either end. There are many issues surrounding Interface management and Paul Davies explores some of the characteristics of this missing material, and strings together some of the key concepts in best practice.
